Key Takeaways from this Webinar

• Accessing ACA premium tax credits or cost sharing reductions to enroll in marketplace plans or enrollment in the Children’s Health Insurance Program would not be negatively factored into a public charge assessment.

• Having health insurance is a positive factor in the public charge test.

• Most people who meet the Medicaid eligibility requirements are unlikely to ever go through a public charge assessment.
  → When past public benefit use is assessed under public charge, the benefits used by the person seeking a new immigration status are considered, not the use of their family members such as their children.

• Far more people will forgo public benefits out of fear and confusion than those whose use of benefits would result in a negative immigration consequence.
Enrollment assistance providers are not expected to:

- Become immigration policy experts
- Tell people that their immigration status will be safe or at risk based on their decision to enroll in health coverage
Enrollment assistance providers can:

• Provide factual information about whether consumers are likely to undergo a public charge assessment, based on their current immigration status and immigration goals
• Provide factual information about what benefits are taken into account in a public charge determination
• Connect consumers with additional resources to help them make informed decisions
• Provide information about the value of comprehensive health insurance
• Provide information about privacy protections related to information shared for enrollment purposes
Part II:

Public Charge
What is Public Charge?

• Public charge is part of immigration law
• A person who is deemed likely to become a public charge can be denied:
  → Permission to come to the U.S.
  → Lawful Permanent Resident (LPR) status, aka a green card
• It is not an eligibility factor for the enrollment in public health insurance/coverage programs
• For many decades, immigration law defined public charge as a person primarily dependent on the government for subsistence
• Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regulations that went into effect in 2020 define a public charge as a person who receives certain public benefits for 12 months in the aggregate out of a 36-month period
What Benefits are Considered?

• Cash assistance for income maintenance
  → At any time
  → Federal, state or local
• Received on or after February 24, 2020:
  → SNAP (formerly Food Stamps)
  → Section 8
  → Public Housing
  → Medicaid, except:
    • Medicaid for medical emergencies
    • Medicaid received by people under age 21
    • Medicaid received during pregnancy and for 60 days after
    • Other, exceptions apply
What Benefits are Not Considered?

• Benefits used by anyone other than the applicant for a visa or LPR status
  → Even if that person submitted the application on their behalf
• Short-term or special purpose cash benefits
• Disaster assistance
• State and local non-cash benefits
• WIC
• School meals
• Community Health Centers
• Hospital charitable or financial assistance
• Everything not explicitly listed!
How is Public Charge Assessed?

• The assessment is forward looking: Is this person likely to become a public charge in the future?
• The law requires immigration officials to look at many factors (totality of the circumstances)
  → Age
  → Health
  → Financial resources
  → Dependents
  → Skills and work experience
• Sponsor’s affidavit of support (if required)
• Benefits are considered as an indication of the person’s financial status, but a person does not need to have received any benefits to be deemed likely to become a public charge
Who is Subject to the Public Charge Test?

• Public charge primarily affects people seeking immigration status based on family relationships.
• Many immigrants whose status is based on humanitarian reasons are exempt from Public Charge inadmissibility, including:
  → Refugees and people granted asylum
  → Survivors of trafficking (T visa) and other serious crimes (U visa)
  → Many survivors of domestic violence, including self-petitioners under the Violence Against Women Act
  → Special immigrant juveniles
Certain people undergo a public charge assessment when they:

- Are seeking permission to come to the United States
- Are applying to become a lawful permanent resident (LPR, a.k.a. green card holder)
- An LPR who leaves the U.S. for over 6 months may be assessed when they return

Examples of times when no public charge test is completed:

- When a person with LPR status applies for citizenship
- When a person with LPR status renews their green card
- When a person who immigrated through a spouse applies to remove the conditions on their LPR status
Example: Ricky, Eva and Karina

- Ricky and Eva are married and have a daughter, Karina
- Ricky became a lawful permanent resident (LPR) 6 years ago
- Eva has a student visa
- Karina is a citizen of the U.S.

Questions that May Help Weigh Out Risks:

- Am I eligible for help getting health coverage?
- Am I likely to undergo a public charge assessment?
- What would going without sufficient health coverage (and/or other supports like food and housing) mean for my family, our health and our financial status?
- “If I undergo a public charge assessment, would the health coverage I’m eligible for be taken into account?”
Part IV:

Understanding & Addressing Concerns Immigrants May Have When Applying for Health Programs
Addressing Concerns Related to Privacy

• Some people who are immigrants or have immigrants in their families fear that completing an application for health coverage — even for a U.S. citizen child — could expose that there are immigrants in the household.

• Privacy rules protect families applying for health insurance, including families whose members have different immigration statuses.

The Marketplace, Medicaid, and CHIP laws limit the use of information collected during the marketplace application processes: it can only be used to make eligibility determinations and must be protected from unauthorized disclosure for other purposes.

State workers, Marketplace employees and assister groups are required to keep information private and secure.

Citations: 42 U.S.C. § 18081(g)(2); 42 C.F.R. § 457.1110; 45 C.F.R. § 155.260(a)
Non-Applicants’ Protections Related to Immigration Status

- Households may include applicants and non-applicants:
  - Applicants are seeking enrollment and/or eligibility
  - Non-applicants are part of the households of an applicant but are not seeking enrollment or eligibility for themselves
- Non-applicants do not have to share information about their citizenship or immigration status
  - But they may have to provide other information such as income
Requests for Social Security Numbers: Applicants

Medicaid and CHIP

SSNs are generally required of Medicaid applicants

- Coverage cannot be denied or delayed pending issuance or verification of SSN
- Medicaid agencies must help individuals apply for an SSN if they are eligible and don’t have one, or if they don’t know their SSN

Some applicants do not have to provide Social Security numbers (SSN), including:

- Newborns in process of obtaining an SSN
- Persons who have a religious objection
- Certain immigrants who are not eligible for an SSN or can only get an SSN for a non-work purpose such as certain domestic violence survivors, trafficking survivors, asylum applicants, and others

Marketplace

Only applicants who have an SSN are required to provide one.
Requests for Social Security Numbers: Non-Applicants

Medicaid and CHIP

Non-applicant household members do not have to provide an SSN for Medicaid and CHIP.

Marketplace

Non-applicant household members should not be required to provide an SSN unless ALL of the following are true:

- The non-applicant is a tax filer (SSN not required for non-applicant tax dependent)
- The non-applicant has a SSN
- The non-applicant filed a federal tax return in the last year

Providing an SSN when available, may increase the likelihood that information consumers provide in the application can be verified electronically, which can reduce the amount of paper documentation consumers may have to turn in to prove their circumstances.

People who are not eligible for SSNs may use Individual Taxpayer Identification Numbers (ITINs) to file taxes, but health insurance affordability program applications should not request ITINs.

NOTE
Tips for Talking About Immigration Status

• Do not ask non-applicants to disclose their citizenship or immigration status

• Use broad questions and share general information about immigrant eligibility to help people identify who may want to apply for insurance while providing other welcoming messages

• When asking questions about immigration and citizenship status of applicants, avoid asking if individuals are “undocumented” or “not legally in the U.S.”
  → Instead use words like “eligible immigration status” or “statuses considered eligible for the marketplace”

FOR EXAMPLE:

“\[We keep your information private and safe. The application asks for some information about everyone in your family, but only a family member seeking coverage for him or herself has to answer questions about immigration or citizenship.\]

“The Marketplace provides coverage to citizens and noncitizens who are lawfully present. Here’s a list of immigration statuses that are eligible for Marketplace coverage.”
